

10 Podcasts to Inspire Your Entrepreneurial Journey

Over the past few years, podcasts have become an increasingly popular way for thought leaders, entrepreneurs, celebrities and others to share their advice, strategies and opinions. Here are 10 podcasts to help inspire and motivate you in your journey as an entrepreneur and business leaders.

Beyond the To Do List

Erik Fisher talks with productivity experts on how to implement strategies to become more successful in your professional and personal life.

How I Built This

NPR's Guy Raz interviews some of the world's best-known entrepreneurs discussing how they built their iconic brands.

Marie Forleo

This American entrepreneur, founder of B-School, shares strategies for greater happiness and fulfillment in both your business and personal life on her podcast.

Mel Robbins

Robbins shares practical advice and science-backed tools designed to help listeners overcome anxiety and other conditions hampering them from being the best they can be.

TED

TED-style episodes featuring leaders from diverse fields sharing their expertise.

Ten Percent Happier

Using scientific research, Dan Harris, an ABC journalist, along with his expert guests, discuss how the power of meditation can help you cope with the chaos and stress of modern life.

The Ramsey Show

Dave Ramsey, the popular radio host and author, along with his co-hosts, answer questions from viewers on how to overcome financial difficulties and practical ways to build wealth.

Tim Ferriss

An early-stage technology investor/ advisor for companies such as Uber, Facebook and Shopify, among others, Ferriss's podcasts cover business, entrepreneurship and lifestyle.

Tiny Leaps, Big Changes

Gregg Clunis, discusses how the day-to-day behaviors we engage in and how by making small changes you can reach your goals.

It's a Good Life

Brian Buffini, founder of Buffini and Company, interviews thought leaders from various fields and offers practical advice from his inspiring journey as an Irish immigrant who achieved success in real estate.